

Thank you to all our First Responders

From Almond Grove Elementary, Oakley CA.

Everyday somewhere in the world another unsung hero is born.
Someone who is willing, to lay his life on the line to save another living creature, on this wonderful planet of ours.
To go out of their way, and risk life and limb to save something, from danger and certain death.
These unsung heroes don't want medals, glory or even fame.

In fact, most would walk away afterwards, without anyone ever knowing their name.

It is not that they feel guilty.

They just feel that they haven't done anything that is special or something someone else wouldn't have probably done.

Therefore, to all those unsung heroes this poem is just for you.

For all the lives that you save each and every day.

Dear Heros, Thank You So much. You have done so much for us, people. If I could come out of my house I would hug you and give a big "break" for all your hard work.
So Police I would like to say that you should get more support because you need to get more thank you's And you guys need more help.
So Fire Fighters I would like to say you need more support because you need more thank you's and help. So Nurses and Doctors I would like to say is that you need more thank you's. All of the people that help us are Heros to the world.
And you work so hard. You are the most best and most helpful of all. I would like to make a toast to the people who help to deal out the corona virus. So say that you are bold and are bright and people love you guys. From: Alana Led Vega

THANK YOU!

The image shows the words "THANK YOU!" written in a highly decorative, hand-drawn style. Each letter is filled with a different pattern or color and has a thick red outline. The word "THANK" is on the top line, and "YOU!" is on the bottom line. The 'T' is filled with a rainbow gradient. The 'H' is dark blue with green dots. The 'A' is white with blue dots. The 'N' is light blue with dark blue diagonal stripes. The 'K' is solid dark blue. The 'Y' is filled with a pattern of red, green, and blue diagonal stripes. The 'O' is solid yellow. The 'U' is light blue with green dots. The exclamation point is red with blue dots. The entire drawing is on a white background with faint horizontal lines.
